Congress Ready to Act

Showdowns Likely On Liberal Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Congress faces likely showdowns next week on two liberal moves—efforts to trim the power of the House Rules Committee and to make it easier to halt Senate filibusters.

Ohio Man Heads GOP Move to Win 'Big City' Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans pointed their guns toward the big city Democratic machines today as they repaired gaps in the GOP organization defeated in the presidential election.

National Chairman Thruston B. Morton called on Ohio State Chairman Ray Bliss to head a task force charged with probing "the practicalities of big city politics" and telling Republicans how to win in these areas.

May Succeed Morton

Bliss, whose organization carried Ohio for Vice President Richard M. Nixon in November, is a potential successor to Morton. Morton accepted a unanimous invitation of the committee Friday to remain as chairman. But he said he will resign later in the year to begin campaigning for reelection to the Senate from Kentucky.

Morton named Bernard M. Shanley, former White House staff member, to devise a "precinct security program" aimed at making it certain only authorized voters are cast and that they are counted correctly.

As an echo of Republican charges of irregularities in some states such as Illinois which Nixon lost by narrow margins, Morton asked for a model election law of "full equity" to recommend to state legislatures. He picked Harley B. Markham of Idaho to head a drafting group.

Early Start For '62

These actions, combined with a drive to register voters now, added up to an early start on the 1962 campaign for control of Congress. President Eisenhower told committee members Friday they can win the House if they work hard enough.

The whole theme of the committee's two-day meeting, winding up with a closed business session today, was directed at the congressional elections nearly two years away.

However, committee members who were guests at a reception given by Nixon Friday night spoke informally outside their sessions. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Tugs, Ferryboats Are Set For N. Y. Strike Jan. 9

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike by crews of tugboats and ferryboats operated by 11 railroads in New York harbor has been set for midnight Monday.

The railroads and three unions are deadlocked on pay and other issues. More than 600 workers are involved. But a walkout could idle another 3,500 marine department and rail employees.

A strike also would affect movement of food, fuel and freight by barges and lighters and would force more than 30,000 ferryboat commuters to seek other means of transportation.

It was announced Friday that freight will be embargoed in most stations if the strike goes on. The unions are the Railroad International Union, Local 1 of Marine Division of the Seafarers' International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots; and Local 33 of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association.

The SIU is seeking a 15 per cent wage increase or about 55 cents an hour; replacement of what it terms "archaic welfare benefits" and better working conditions.

Railroad tugboat workers average about $100 a week, the union said. The railroads said they had offered a 2 per cent wage increase which was awarded to other operating and non-operating railroad workers last year.

The railroads are the New York Central, Pennsylvania, New Haven, Erie-Lackawanna, Central of New Jersey, Lehigh Valley, Reading, Baltimore and Ohio, Brooklyn Eastern District Terminal, Bush Terminal, and New York Dock.

4 Released On Bail in Accord Case

Four persons accused of rioting at the Ship's Galley Bar and Grill, Accord, in the early hours of New Year's Day were released in $100 bail following a preliminary hearing Friday night before Justice of the Peace Raymond Lawrence of the town of Rochester.

A hearing will be held later this month for three brothers and a sister, all of Accord, who are charged with rioting in which a number of patrons were injured.

They are Joseph Piscopo, 30, and his brothers, Louis, 36, and Anthony, 26, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Salvi, 38.

Seized on Warrants They were taken into custody New Year's Eve by state police of the Ellenville barracks on warrants issued by Judge Lawrence.

Mrs. Mildred Williams, 48, of Allgerville, a patron, was taken to Benedictine Hospital where 14 sutures were necessary to close a laceration of the scalp which troopers said was suffered when she was struck with a baseball bat.

Trooper Edward Whalen and Cpl. Michael Lisman, BCI, who investigated, reported at the time that Joseph Piscopo was at (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Ike Will Ask $888 Million For Interior Dept. Spending

By W. JOYNES MCFARLAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration will submit to Congress an increased Interior Department budget asking $888 million for the fiscal year starting July 1, it was learned today.

The department's budget for the current fiscal year is $805,116,000, highest ever voted by Congress.

The proposed new budget includes annual, permanent and indefinite appropriations. The annual spending would total about $765 million.

As usual, the Reclamation Bureau is slated to get the most money—about $290 million. This compares with $284,505,705 for this year. The bureau's original request for more than $300 million was reduced after work on the Glen Canyon Dam and some other big projects fell behind schedule.

A total of about $139 million is recommended for the Indian Bureau, including an increase of $10 million.

President-elect John F. Kennedy's incoming administration buckled down to the task of deciding how the government can spur the economy.

His special economic task force told him that the recession might get worse and action is needed. Proposals included additional unemployment compensation, increased defense and foreign aid spending, more money for school construction, expanded urban renewal programs, public works programs and help for distressed areas.

On a more limited front, representatives of the Steelworkers Union and steel companies got together in an effort to work out a plan to stimulate their industry.

The New York Federal Reserve Board reported that economic activity continued sluggish in the final weeks of 1960 and said many business analysts foresee "only small gains in sales and a continued squeeze on profits in 1961."

Cuba Says Two U.S. Arms Airdrops Are Intercepted

Views Conflict On Laos Threat

French Say Pro-Communist Rebels Near Luang Prabang, Royal Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos AP — A column of pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels was reported advancing on Luang Prabang today from the north. Advances varied, however, as to whether the royal capital was imminently threatened.

French sources said the threat to Luang Prabang was increasing. Other Western military men placed the column still 60 miles north of the city and said it was in no immediate danger.

King More Optimistic

The more optimistic view seemed to be shared by King Savang Vathana. He took off today from Vientiane for Luang Prabang after earlier delays that raised questions about the security of the city.

The king, in Vientiane for the formal installation of the new anti-Communist government of Premier Prince Boun Oum, had delayed his departure but then started Friday. He returned in less than two hours, and a spokesman explained that there had been engine trouble.

The king's second departure early today indicated the rebel attacks in the Luang Prabang area are isolated clashes between guerrilla units and royal patrols and were not connected with a major Pathet Lao offensive.

Military sources confirmed Ban Ban on the east-west highway linking the strategic Plaine des Jarres with Communist North Viet Nam fell to pro-Communist forces practically without a fight.

Most of Xieng Khouang Province now is in the hands of pro-Communist paratroop Capt. Kong Le and his Pathet Lao allies. Two of the main north-south and east-west highways in Laos join in (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Reds Have Supply Base

Its capture has given the pro-Red forces a primary supply base in the heart of Laos. The Soviet Union and North Viet Nam can now bolster their airlift of arms and ammunition to Kong Le's forces with direct overland supplies.

Disarm Mobutu, Let Lumumba Go Afros Tell U.N.

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—Leaders of five left-leaning African states urged the United Nations today to disarm the Congo forces of Col. Joseph Mobutu immediately and free the imprisoned ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Mobutu's soldiers were denounced as "lawless bands."

In one of a series of conference resolutions, the leaders of the United Arab Republic, Guinea, Ghana, Mali and Morocco also urged the United Nations to reconvene the Congolese Parliament and expel all Belgian and other foreign military personnel who are not under U.N. command.

May Pull Out Troops

They declared their "intention and determination" to withdraw their own men from the 20,000-man U.N. command unless this is done. But they fixed no time limit. They have threatened this before.

Of the five, only Mali has no troops in the Congo. It has contributed a small nonmilitary staff. The group proclaimed a "charter of new Africa" for cooperation in political, economic, military and cultural affairs.

The conference decided that a group of technicians will set up four commissions to organize the cooperation among African nations. These technicians are expected to make their reports within three months.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the U.A.R. failed to persuade the other African leaders to break off relations with France immediately over Algeria.

A watered-down version of Nasser's plan was approved Friday in a resolution signed by the five nations warning France that continuation of the Algerian war would force them to "reconsider" relations.

Economy Spur Sounds Keynote for New Year

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Efforts to give the economy a lift became the keynote as 1961 opened.

There seemed to be general confidence that business and government, working together, would get the job done and things would be back on an even keel before the year is over.

This week produced some glum developments and pronouncements but attention was focused more on the possibility of future improvement than on current lags.

President-elect John F. Kennedy's incoming administration buckled down to the task of deciding how the government can spur the economy.

His special economic task force told him that the recession might get worse and action is needed. Proposals included additional unemployment compensation, increased defense and foreign aid spending, more money for school construction, expanded urban renewal programs, public works programs and help for distressed areas.

On a more limited front, representatives of the Steelworkers Union and steel companies got together in an effort to work out a plan to stimulate their industry.

The New York Federal Reserve Board reported that economic activity continued sluggish in the final weeks of 1960 and said many business analysts foresee "only small gains in sales and a continued squeeze on profits in 1961."

However, the country had a strong springboard from which to resume its general economic climb. National income, personal disposable income, gross national product and personal consumption expenditures were breaking records or were near record levels.

Retail trade, for example, established a new record in 1960, slightly exceeding the previous high of 1959, the statistical agency, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported.

The automobile industry cut back production sharply this week partly because of the new year's holiday but mainly because dealers have about one million unsold cars.

None of the plants worked more than four days and all but one of Chrysler Corp.'s plants were closed. The number of laid off workers was expected to pass 30,000 this month. Output was estimated at 77,000 cars, compared with 86,573 last week and 163,249 in the first week of 1960.

Automakers said they would have to take a hard look at early January sales before deciding what to do later in the month.

The industry looked back on a year in which 6.69 million cars were produced, a 20 per cent increase over 1959 and second highest in history.

The steel industry quit announcing figures giving the percentage of capacity at which the industry operated for the week. Leaders said the statistics gave a false picture because with added capacity (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

Governor to Fete Wilson, 29 Other Leaders Tuesday

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, Ulster County Republican chairman and 29 other county leaders will be luncheon guests of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller at the Executive Mansion in Albany next Tuesday.

Party leaders from the other 32 counties in the state will be entertained at subsequent gatherings.

Vice-Chairmen Invited

Vice chairmen also are invited. The governor entertains the party leaders annually at the opening of the Legislature, apparently in a move to obtain their cooperation and support for his legislative programs. Many of the county leaders have a strong voice in setting policy for their respective lawmakers.

On Monday, Rockefeller will entertain members of his cabinet at a dinner at the Executive Mansion. That evening, he also will attend the annual legislative reception. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Havana Trying To Woo Kennedy

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban Defense Ministry, with forces deployed against the alleged threat of invasion, claimed today two big airdrops of U.S. arms intended for counterrevolutionaries have been intercepted in separate areas of Cuba.

In Original Crates

A formal press announcement said the arms were dropped by planes "coming from the north" and were packed in the original crates of U.S. arms factories.

Word of the seizures came as Fidel Castro's regime took new domestic and diplomatic action—cracking down on Cubans trying to flee and sounding another overture for U.S. reconciliation once President-elect John F. Kennedy is in office.

Militiamen under Capt. Manuel Borjas seized one arms airdrop in Pinar del Rio Province, less than 50 miles west of Havana, the announcement said. Castro forces allegedly intercepted another batch in the fringes of the Escambray Mountains in Las Villas Province, the central Cuban scene of insurgent activity for months. The seizures represent the loss of thousands of dollars worth of arms to opposition forces, if the government claim is correct.

Cite New Aggression

El Mundo headlined: "Yankee planes drop arms in Escambray and Pinar del Rio." The government-controlled newspaper called the incidents "new examples of aggression against Cuba."

El Mundo also carried on its front page a Cuban news agency dispatch from Moscow in which Tass, the Soviet news agency, called U.S. maintenance of its naval base at Guantanamo Bay "weak, illogical and ridiculous."

The story said Tass claimed the United States had no right to try to maintain a foreign base in a country with which it "did not consider it necessary to have diplomatic or consular relations."

6 Terrorists Seized

Radio Havana, also controlled by the government, said government agents seized six terrorists and a small bomb-making plant in downtown Havana today. The radio said the explosives came from the United States as part of (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Belgian Sees Work Return, Continue Strike: Union

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A cabinet spokesman today predicted a widespread return to work Monday. But the Socialist-led General Workers Federation said "the nation is in a virtual state of siege" and urged workers to continue their 19-day-old strike.

The spokesman for Premier Gaston Eyskens' government said: "Things are quiet in Liege. No new serious incidents have been reported there."

In Liege Friday 75 persons were injured—11 critically—in a riot between a mob of 1,600 and soldiers, policemen and firemen.

Store owners in Liege, who suffered heavy damage, appealed to the government for more police protection.

in Liege, four were foreigners, the Belgian News Agency reported.

Their nationality was not named.

The situation in other parts of the country:

ANTWERP — Seven ships entered the harbor in the night. Oil refineries and gasoline distributors are resuming work Monday. More teachers will return to schools. Many firms replaced strikers with new employees. Diehards called another rally for Monday.

GHENT — With some streetcars and buses running, the Socialist Transport Workers Union ordered a return to work Monday. Five arrests were made in the night. BRUSSELS — Mostly quiet, but at the university, students belong (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

"Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity," said Horace Mann, who developed our great public school system. Over 100 years ago, he fought for better teaching and better-paid teachers. He proposed duty, affection, love of knowledge and truth as cornerstones of school discipline, rather than authority, force and fear. He suggested that apparatus be used as a science teaching aid and introduced school music. He urged that students be taught to think, envisioning much that is taken for granted, or hoped for, in schools today.

"God's laws abide forever and we abide forever under them," he said. "When I think, after the experience of one life—what I could do . . . better than I have ever done for—humanity—temperance—peace—breaking the rod of the oppressor—higher education . . . I would enlist for another 50 year's campaign, and fight it out for the glory of God and the welfare of man."

3 Presbyteries Merge at Meeting Sunday Afternoon

Four years ago informal talks began between the three presbyteries of Hudson, North River, and Westchester, resulting in the merger creating the new Presbytery of Hudson River of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. It has been approved by the Synod of New York and the General Assembly, which is the national body, and will be constituted Sunday with special services in the Calvary Presbyterian Church, Newburgh, 3:30 p. m. All elders of the churches of the three presbyteries, and members and friends of the Presbyterian Church are expected to attend. The speakers will include the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk of the General Assembly; the Rev. Dr. Edler G. Hawkins, vice moderator of the General Assembly; the Rev. Dr. David S. MacInnes, Executive of the Synod of New York; and the Rev. Merle S. Irwin, first moderator of the new Presbytery of Hudson River.

The headquarters of Presbytery will continue for the present at 47 Barker Avenue, White Plains. The Executive Secretary is the Rev. Dr. Melvin J. Joachim, at present the executive secretary of the Presbytery of Westchester. The total current giving of the churches of the three presbyteries is four million dollars.

The Presbytery of Hudson, established in 1795, once included the Presbytery of North River. Later separated, they will come together again and unite with the Presbytery of Westchester in the new Presbytery of Hudson River.

Established in 1795

On October 22, 1795, the Synod of New York and New Jersey established the Presbytery of Hudson by removing Orange County, and the southern bounds of the Presbytery of Albany on the west side of the Hudson River, from the Presbytery of New York. To this was added the Presbytery of Dutchess on the east side of the river. The boundaries changed from time to time. In the early 1800's it was divided into Hudson and North River. The boundary was set, according to tradition, on whether a church had access to the Erie Railroad, so that ministers and elders could travel to meetings of Presbytery of Hudson.

The Presbytery of Westchester was created by the Synod of New York on June 21, 1870 consisting of all the churches in Westchester and Putnam Counties with the exception of Cold Spring, including also the Presbytery churches in the State of Connecticut. The Presbytery began with 35 churches—19 in Westchester County, five in Putnam County, five in what is now New York City, and six in Connecticut.

The earliest churches, with the approximate dates of their beginnings were the following: Rye, 1674; Bedford, 1681; White Plains, 1722; Southeast, 1735; Yorktown, 1742; with Carmel, Patterson and South Salem organized around 1752.

Reformed Youth Group Chooses Name, Symbol

The Reformed Church in America Youth Department announced winners of the name and symbol contest for the denomination's new national youth organization. The announcement was made at the Fourth National Youth Assembly on the campus of Central College, Pella, Iowa, Dec. 31.

Miss Gail Veendaal of Milwaukee, Wis., was the winner of the symbol contest. The symbol depicts an open Bible on a triangle, representing the three phases of denominational youth work. The torch, symbolizing Christ, the Light of the World, figures prominently, representing the eternity of God. Miss Veendaal will receive a trip to the Interchurch Center in New York City as her award.

The name award went to Eugene Fiske of Sonoma, Calif. Mr. Fiske suggested the name, Reformed Church Youth Fellowship.

The new organization will go into effect in 1962, uniting Reformed Church youth for the first time in the denomination's long history, beginning 1628.

Reading Skills Helped In Adult Class Nights

That much can be done to improve reading skills was demonstrated in the reading improvement class sponsored by the adult education program of the Kingston City Schools (Consolidated), last term, according to Hubert Hoderath, director.

The class which met on Monday nights was reading at a rate of 180 words per minute with a 60 percent comprehension level, he said. At the conclusion of the semester the class average was 750 words per minute at 75 percent comprehension. The theme of the first semester was "Read faster without losing comprehension."

The second semester will teach the skill of reading material of varying difficulty, from novels to scientific reports. It is hoped the local business and professional people will avail themselves of this opportunity to learn how to get more out of written material in less time.

Hoderath said. Listening is another area that will be explored, he added.

Better than average readers will be welcomed to the second semester if they can demonstrate their reading ability.

Registration will be accepted in the office of the director of adult education Monday and Wednesday, Jan. 9 and 11 from 7 to 9 p. m., or any school day from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Ohio Man Heads

about the 1964 presidential contests. A cross section check indicated all shades of opinion about the possibility that Nixon will seek the party presidential nomination again.

Some members thought he ought to have another shot at it. Others felt the odds were not good that he could beat Kennedy after the latter has spent nearly four years in the White House.

Still others foresaw a three-way battle for the nomination among Nixon, Gov. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Goldwater Critical
The Arizona senator criticized Nixon's campaign procedure, fired off some blasts in Rockefeller's directions and flatly opposed a proposal by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., for formation of a 35-member "all Republican" group to establish a party policy.

In the face of obvious opposition by the GOP leaders of both houses, Sen. Everett R. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the Keating proposal appeared to have died shortly after it was born.

Goldwater said the national committee ought to take over direction of a presidential campaign instead of letting the party candidate superimpose his own organizing as Nixon did.

Takes Dig at Rocky
Goldwater indirectly blamed Rockefeller for the Republican's loss of New York State in November. Without naming the governor, Goldwater said:

"As a party we cannot afford and we will not gloss over any attempts which ambitious men make to tear down, as aid to their own careers, President Eisenhower. Vice President Nixon or any other men of stature within the party."

the grill about 1:30 a. m. Sunday when Maurice DeWitt, proprietor of the establishment, accused him of being disorderly at the bar and Piscopo was taken to the door.

Returned to Grill Later
Whalen said Piscopo left the grill and returned about a half hour later with his brothers and sister, swinging clubs and a baseball bat at random. About 50 patrons were in the place at the time. Some tried to subdue the Piscopos, state police said. Others attempted to flee to safety.

Meanwhile DeWitt telephoned Ellenville state police to report the riot.

The Piscopo brothers were arrested on Tuesday 209 near Warwick as they were returning to Accord from Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, where they were treated for injuries.

Statements were taken from patrons that night. The following day Mrs. Salfi was arrested.

Ulster Hose Is To Meet Monday

The regular meeting of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 will be held Monday night at 5 o'clock in the new building at 211 West Main Street.

A fire broke out in a textile factory near Verniers, but was extinguished with little damage.

The Belgian News Agency said a train was derailed in a tunnel between Repinster and Chaudontaine, in the Liege region.

There were no serious injuries. The position of King Baudouin was not clear.

He was first reported planning a new round of conferences with business and labor leaders in hopes of mediating the strike. But sources close to the throne said the young monarch had no plans to receive any official visitors at Laeken Palace this weekend.

Esopus Vols Open Training Jan. 16

During the regular meeting of the Esopus Fire Dept., Chief Oscar Lambert announced plans for a 10-week course on fire-fighting for all active members. The first class will be held Monday, Jan. 16 at the firehouse and every Monday night until March 20.

Chief Lambert explained each two hour class will cover all phases of the duties and responsibilities of volunteer firemen with emphasis on training in the use of more modern equipment such as radio, air-masks and resuscitators.

Enrollments were accepted after the business meeting and last reports indicate a capacity class.

To Hold Training In Radiological Service for CD

Major H. Edgar Timmerman, Civil Defense director of Ulster County, today announced the start of an important training class in the radiological section of Civil Defense.

This course will consist of 10-two hour sessions conducted in the County Control Center, basement of the Court House at 285 Wall Street, and will be taught by Morris Nussbaum, chief of radiological service, and John Schermerhorn, his assistant, under the adult education program of the Kingston High School.

Both men and women are invited to register for this course which will include the use of survey meters and geiger counters and dose rate meters, how to calculate accumulated dosage, radiation protection, and the effects of fallout. It is hoped that many of these already enrolled in Civil Defense in Ulster County will register for training.

Registration may be made either in Kingston High School on January 9 from 7 to 9 p. m., January 11 from 7 to 9 p. m., and also at the Civil Defense Control Center, 285 Wall Street on January 12, the night of the first session. All sessions will be from 7 to 9 p. m. and will be postponed should there be unsafe driving conditions.

Herbert Hoderath, director of adult education, states that as usual, no registration fee will be charged for this Civil Defense course.

Any person desiring more information is asked to contact the Civil Defense office in City Hall.

Views Conflict

in Xiang Khouang still represent a threat to Kong Le. The province is by no means secure for the rebels if the Laotian government is able to rally a determined counteroffensive.

Pathe Lao rebels, backed by a Soviet airlift of weapons and ammunition, have been consolidating their strategic position in the north central Plaines des Jarres since New Years and have been threatening to capture the sleepy royal capital.

Doubt Major Offensive
Western military experts here, however, would be greatly surprised if a major offensive materialized now. The experts have been saying the rebels would need at least a week to make such a move.

The reports of fighting in the capital area could be isolated clashes rather than a rebel offensive.

(The censor eliminated the next two paragraphs of this dispatch, as well as a later paragraph concerning the morale of government forces.)

Rebel forces suddenly moved in on the strategic Plaines des Jarres and the provincial capital of Xiang Khouang last weekend, converging from their positions 65 miles north of this capital.

The royal Laotian government charged the attack was aided by an invasion of 3,000 Communist Vietnamese from the east. U.S. intelligence sources said outside Communist military personnel also was dropped by Soviet planes. Many Western military sources say these reports have not been confirmed.

Heavy Vote Seen Victory For DeGaulle

ALGIERS (AP)—French officials beamed optimism today as the crucial referendum on President Charles de Gaulle's self-termination plan for Algeria entered its second day.

A voter turnout averaging 62 per cent Friday in 600 rural communities bolstered official hopes for approval of De Gaulle's plan to end six years of strife in this French territory.

De Gaulle has pleaded for a heavy "yes" vote and rebel leaders have called for a boycott of the polling places. French officials frankly believe a heavy vote of approval would give De Gaulle a greater chance of achieving a solution for the bloody Algerian question.

The French army maintained a vigilant watch today as about 570 communities voted. The army was ordered to prevent abstention.

urban development suggested a flexible subsidy program intended to encourage as much private enterprise as possible in the building of low-cost housing.

Other proposals included $500 million annually for college housing loans, $650 million annually for four years for urban renewal, slum clearance and related programs, $750 million over four years for community facility grants, $510 million over four years for farm housing. The report also recommended planning grants to help urban areas map their mass transit and suburban development programs.

The task force recommended another innovation which Kennedy has indicated he favors—a cabinet post for housing and urban development.

Kennedy said Friday night that in his discussions with Rusk he had reached some decisions on top-level foreign policy appointments, but that they would not be announced immediately.

May Send Aye to Moscow
The incoming President and secretary of state met amid reports that Kennedy is considering sending W. Averell Harriman, whom he has designated to be a special ambassador-at-large, to see Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. The purpose would be to find what Khrushchev had in mind when he called for improving Soviet-American relations.

All five reiterated their support for the Algerian rebels and approved "the enlistment of African and other volunteers in the (Algerian rebel) army of liberation."

The resolution denounced "the assistance given by NATO to France."

In a separate announcement, the conference blasted the French referendum now under way in Algeria, through which President Charles de Gaulle hopes to achieve eventual self-determination for the territory.

The conference said it supports former Premier Patrice Lumumba as the only legitimate government leader of the Congo.

Shippers Will Hear Report on Efficiency

Walter C. Pine, manager of transportation of the DeLaval Separator Company, Poughkeepsie, will report to the Atlantic States Shippers Advisory Board on freight car efficiency matters at a meeting in New York City on Wednesday and Thursday.

The board with a membership of approximately 3,000 shippers and receivers of carload freight is vitally concerned with railroad freight service. Pine, who will address the meeting in the Hotel Commodore, intends to stress the need for reliable on-time freight schedules as well as receiver cooperation in unloading cars promptly and free of dunnage.

Committee forums will be held on Wednesday, with shippers, receivers and carriers participating in roundtable discussions covering common transportation problems. Election of officers for the ensuing year will take place at the final session on Thursday.

The Board is one of 13 such voluntary regional organizations located throughout the country for the purpose of cooperating with railroads in promoting an efficient transportation service and in maintaining an adequate car supply to meet shipper requirements.

Tonawanda Hotel Has Heavy Fire Loss

TONAWANDA, N. Y. (AP)—A two-alarm fire spread through the Delaware Hotel here early today, wrecking most of the hotel's interior.

Families residing on the upper floors of the three-story brick building all escaped. One fireman was hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation.

The first floor houses a grill. The Delaware, only hotel in the city, is located in the central business district.

A Buffalo fire boat came down the Niagara River into the near-by Barge Canal and stood by in the event the fire spread.

Canadian Marriages Drop

Over Color Comics

Suit Is Filed To Enjoin 6 in Alleged Case

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A civil anti-trust suit has been filed in Federal District Court here to enjoin six companies from continuing an alleged illegal monopoly in the printing of newspaper color comic supplements.

The suit was filed Friday by the Justice Department after a federal grand jury reported it had found evidence of a monopoly in the $28 million-a-year industry during an investigation which started last June.

Defendants Named
Defendants named in the action were greater Buffalo Press, Inc., of Buffalo; Hearst Corp. of New York; operator of King Features Syndicate; Newspaper Enterprise Association of Cleveland, Ohio, a subsidiary of the E. W. Scripps Co. of Cincinnati; International Color Printing Co. of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; South West Color Printing Corp. of Lufkin, Tex., and Dixie Color Printing Corp. of Sylacauga, Ala.

Greater Buffalo was described by the government as the largest color comic supplement printing firm in the nation, International Color, Southwest Color and Dixie Color are subsidiaries of Greater Buffalo.

Named as a co-conspirator but not a defendant was Eastern Color Printing Co., of Waterbury, Conn.

Cuba Says...

The government froze issuance of new exit permits for all Cuban and foreign residents but said tourists will not be affected. American residents leaving will not require new permits to leave unless they intend to return.

The Cuban Cabinet approved a new law this week that authorizes death for convicted anti-Castro terrorists.

Sugar Crop Swapped
The pitch to Kennedy was made by Ernesto (Che) Guevara, president of Cuba's national bank and architect of Castro's revolutionary economic policies.

At the same time, Guevara admitted in a three-hour television speech Friday night that Cuba swapped its 1960-61 sugar crop for the Communist bloc for political considerations. He did not say what the political considerations were.

In carrying the Castro regime's wooing of Kennedy further, Guevara emphasized that Kennedy said Wednesday he would not assume responsibility for the break-off of diplomatic relations until he took office Jan. 20.

Notes Uncertainty
This, Guevara said, is "important (in that it) injects a note of uncertainty on the issue. This means Eisenhower is responsible for all and that there are certain differences."

"The United States should never feel small in discussing (reconciliation) with us," he said. "We always are willing but on terms of respect for Cuba's sovereignty."

Switzerland, in taking over protection of U.S. interests in Cuba, met a problem which was chronic for the now-departed U.S. diplomatic staff: how to obtain the release of American citizens held by Cuban police.

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—Nassau County police resume an intensive search today for their own police commissioner, John Beckmann, 63. He disappeared Friday under mysterious circumstances.

His car was found shortly after 8:30 a. m., parked on a bridge near Jones Beach, on Long Island's south shore. In the glove compartment were his wallet and his nickel-plated .32 caliber revolver, which he habitually carried with him.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, keeping a promise to an Army commander, arrived here at 10:07 a. m. today for a brief vacation, probably his last in Augusta as chief executive.

Skies were overcast, but the temperature was in the 40s as the President alighted from his plane, the Eisenhower III. Weathermen said Eisenhower should be able to get in a round or two of golf today with sunshine peeking through the high cloud cover. Some rain is expected Sunday, however.

A crowd of 150 persons was on hand to greet the President.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 7, 1961

THE WORLD'S BIGGEST

Many large cities got some surprises from this year's census. Some were much disturbed by their losses of population, though they should have expected this outcome of the great migration to the suburbs. Others have crowded over their gains.

We are not the only country to undergo swift population change in the cities. Mexico City, for example, had 2,224,000 inhabitants in 1950; now it has jumped to more than double that figure, 4,924,000, and is the world's sixth largest city.

The 10 largest in the world include, as most people would expect, New York and Chicago. More surprising, perhaps is the presence of two from South America. Buenos Aires has 3,703,000 inhabitants, and is eighth on the list. Brazil's Sao Paulo, a city of amazingly rapid growth, has 3,417,000 people, and is ninth. Both outrank Chicago.

The largest of them all is Tokyo, with an estimated population of 9,102,000. London comes second with 8,222,000. New York's 7,781,000 makes it third, but at any time it may be passed by Shanghai, now credited with 6,204,000 inhabitants. Then comes Moscow, and then Mexico City. We may surpass in many things, but are far from monopolizing the list of large cities.

CRIMSON IN WASHINGTON

The leftish coloration that some conservatives feared does not seem to have materialized in the new administration, but there is no doubt that it has more than a tinge of crimson. Harvard crimson, that is.

At this writing, President-elect Kennedy has drawn more than a dozen of his top administrative personnel from the ranks of Harvard graduates or teachers. There is some overlapping in those categories, of course, since Harvard College likes to enrich its faculty with its own graduates.

The secretaries of the treasury and defense, both the attorney general and solicitor general, the director of the budget, Kennedy's top assistant for national security affairs—all these and numerous others are Harvard men, and doubtless more touches of crimson will be added before the government is completed. So be it. No one can legitimately object to the president-elect's fondness for products of his alma mater, as long as they are outstanding men.

Even so, those who joke about how the faculty is being thinned out by these raids may be forgiven an undercurrent of serious concern. If things keep up this way there will be as much of Harvard in Washington as in Cambridge.

QUITTING SCHOOL HURTS

Along about this time of year, high school pupils dissatisfied with school for one reason or another begin to consider the delights of chucking it all. They find themselves daydreaming about being outside, with a good job and plenty of money to spend and no home work and...

To all such, and to parents who may be aware that a desire to drop out of school is simmering, the United States Department of Labor has addressed a message. The message, embodied in a report recently issued, is that those who drop out of high school before graduation seriously cripple their future earning potential.

There is nothing new in this. Statistics showing the relationship between more education and better jobs (in terms of both pay and satisfaction) have been widely publicized in recent years. But the Labor Department report does two vital things: it reiterates a warning that needs to be hammered home often, and it brings the data up to date. REORGANIZATION OF EDUCATION

The principal value of the Kennedy Administration can be that it need not base itself on the Roosevelt or Truman Administrations. It is under no obligations to the Eisenhower Administration. It can start fresh. It can start afresh in many fields and correct two decades of accumulated errors, without the need for criticizing anyone. It can be wholly objective if it chooses to be.

For instance, the new Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare need not enter into the controversy as to Federal control of education. Much has developed in that area which avoids the term, control. But what is most serious is that many persons hold degrees who are uneducated; many have won honors in a college that is as elementary as a high school. In a word, standards are not uniform and some are too low.

What does the B.A. represent? Suppose a girl comes along for a teaching job, does her B.A. represent anything in particular? Or if she also has an M.A., does that by itself represent anything? It becomes necessary to ask where she got these degrees and in what subjects she majored and what the departments actually amount to. It is not a question of uniformity but of quality.

Those who need graduates who have specialized in mathematics, physics and chemistry also require that these men be cultured persons, with some broad knowledge of history and literature, because there is no person more dangerous than an ill-balanced learned man who knows everything about one subject and nothing about anything else. After all, Albert Einstein, the outstanding physicist of our era, was a brilliant violinist but a stupid politician. The human mind is very complex and no one is gifted in every application.

There ought to be some universal standard in the United States for the various degrees that are issued by colleges and universities. A graduate, let us say, of the Harvard Law School, who made the Law Review, is trained differently and more intensely than a fellow who goes to a night school course somewhere. It is possible that as the years pass, the less well-trained man will do better financially or politically than the better-trained man. That does not matter. The standards should be set as high as can be.

What does a "C" mean? A "C" in Radcliffe or Barnard is a higher mark than a "B" or even an "A" in some very inadequate college which exists on students' fees. These marks have come to mean very little comparatively because each college or university decides whether it is to be tough or easy. The so-called "country club" colleges ignore learning in favor of forming "the whole man or woman" which is, of course, nonsense. Precisely what development of mind, of character, of intellectual or moral discipline is produced by being a hopping cheer-leader and doing a somersault to establish the evidence of enthusiasm?

I am not a square. I do not want to spoil any kid's fun. But this country needs cultivated brains. We are in trouble for lack of trained intellects. We have many specialists and experts, but too many of them are technicians without the imagination, the intellectual breadth which comes from a profound cultural association with the whole of human experience.

It is more important to raise standards than to erect more buildings.

If the new Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Abraham Ribicoff, wants to do a real job for the United States, he will devote himself to raising standards right up the line from the elementary school to the university. It is ridiculous that any college should waste the time of teacher or pupil with what is usually called English I. This is high-school stuff and if the student comes to college inadequately prepared, he should be flunked. A few years of that and the high schools would hear from the parents who would demand to know what is being done with the money they pay for school taxes. A few lazy and pedantic heads would roll.

The Kennedy Administration is principally made up of men with little Federal governmental past. They can display initiative and ingenuity without fear that they will be exposed for inconsistency or for some earlier stupidity. The few who have pasts to live down will have to take their chances with historic memory.

The Mature Parent

Accept Past's Inevitability

And Determine to Grow

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
I am a widow and a year ago when my daughter broke up with her husband, and my little grandson came to live with me. It is not working out. I can't do anything right for the boy. Sometimes I've thought she was jealous of his affection for me but it's worse than that. She blames me for her bad marriage. Last weekend she said she had never forgiven me for marrying her stepfather and had married herself to get away from home. I don't know how much more I can stand.

ANSWER: "The idea that we could have behaved differently than we did at some point in the past presupposes that the individual was full-grown and completed from his very beginning. It assumes that wisdom is not a matter of growth but something that came prefabricated and automatic."

"Only when the individual can genuinely accept the inevitability of the past—that's who I was and that's what made it possible—can he free himself from the past, begin to grow and reach real change."

I heard these words spoken this week by Dr. Bernard Zuger at a meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis. They are your answer to the guilt for your past aroused by your daughter's reproaches.

Under pressure by painful consequences of their own past behavior, grown children will sometimes blame us for these consequences. Like your daughter, they will try to make us feel miserable and guilty because they cannot bear the burden of their own guilt and misery.

At these times they need our example of untroubled self-acceptance above all else. For their guilt and misery is their indirect way of expressing their rage at their inability to be wiser than they could be.

It is their way of insisting that we should have given birth to finished people with nothing to learn, no wrong answers to correct, no growth to make. If we are accepting our own continuing incompleteness, we are not disturbed by the child's rage at his.

I hope that you will preserve Dr. Zuger's words. They are new wine in an old bottle that can refresh our understanding of the Christian statement: "Follow me—and let the dead bury the dead."

They are profoundly religious, life-supporting, life-welcoming words that I commend not only to you but to your daughter.

proves more clearly than ever before that dropping out early does not pay.

The chances are excellent that dropping out will be even more foolish in the future than it has been in the recent past. The emphasis is increasingly on more training, greater skill, more knowledge. The Jungle Takes Over

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The open season on business predictions for the new year attracts more interest than usual because of speculation over what the Kennedy administration will do about them.

There is a pretty general tone of uncertainty over the first half of 1961 in economic forecasts so far made public.

EVEN THE CONSERVATIVE National Industrial Conference Board's year-end economic forum discussions by 14 big business, academic and government experts can offer only this outlook:

"America's economy will begin 1961 in low gear, possibly even move lower during the first and second quarters, then shift into steadily higher gear in the second half of the year."

National Planning Commission's chief economist, Gerhard Colm finds evidence that the present slack in business is not just "another temporary setback, but a turning point to a lower pace of economic development."

This view is said to be in contrast to NPC's own projections that the economic growth rate will increase from the 3 1/2 per cent of the past decade to 4 or 4 1/2 per cent in the 1960s.

More bullish predictions than that are hard to find. Labor union economists, concerned largely by unemployment rates, are downright pessimistic. There were four million totally unemployed in November—plus 2 and seven-tenths million working part time.

Even the Conference Board's forum foresees the possibility of 4 and eight-tenths million totally unemployed by the middle of 1961. Employment is expected to rise in the second half of the year. But total unemployment is projected at 4 and one-tenth million by the end of 1961, which is no net improvement over present conditions.

This puts the incoming administration on something of a spot. In self-defense, the Democrats may claim that they inherited a recession from the Republicans.

But it will be the Democrats' problem to cure it if they can. Or else they can ride it out, hoping that it will be of short duration, and start building from there.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM COMMITTS the Kennedy administration to the doctrine that the American economy "can and must grow at an average rate of 5 per cent annually."

We pledge ourselves to policies that will achieve this goal without inflation.

"As the first step to speeding economic growth," the platform continues, "a Democratic president will put an end to the present high interest, tight money policy."

Just how they will prevent inflation by ending the tight money policy is a neat economic trick they haven't explained. But that's apparently one rabbit they're going to pull out of Kennedy's high inaugural hat.

In the next section the platform declares that "the Democratic party reaffirms its support of full employment as a paramount objective of national policy."

THE SOLUTION FOR LOW BUSINESS LEVELS and high unemployment rates which organized labor spokesmen propose to the Kennedy administration is to create more consumer purchasing power.

The AFL-CIO "Economic Review," put out under the direction of its research director, Stanley Rutenberg, maintains that 70 per cent of the nation's total output is related to consumer purchasing power.

This can be stimulated, it is maintained, by increasing wages and salaries and by reduction of standard working hours, without reduction of take-home pay. This is what more conservative economists call "trying to spend yourself rich."

KENNEDY HAS NOT YET committed himself to a short-range economic program. The "90-day" legislative program to which he has so far given top priority is for more government aid to housing, school construction and depressed areas.

But it would take six months to a year to get such a program rolling. The effect after that might help lift the national economy to the desired 5 per cent growth rate. It would help for 1962 and beyond.

But the more immediate problem is what to do about the first half of 1961.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 6—I notice that Dr. Walter W. Heller (new chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors for President-Elect Kennedy) is telling the American people that 1960—especially the last half—was a period of recession. However, while the net earnings of many corporations were off, the gross earnings of most of these companies held up very well.

Reasons for Unemployment
Most of these corporations showed poor net earnings because they were obliged to pay higher wages or give fringes, etc., to their wage-workers when there was no increase in their efficiency or output. At the same time, the door to higher prices was closed by stiff competition from domestic manufacturers as well as by the rising flood of low-cost goods from abroad.

I really feel that Dr. Heller will have much trouble to prove that our difficulties are caused by a lack of employment opportunities. Let us face the facts... the union leaders in this country must shoulder the lion's share of the blame. They have priced many goods out of our own and foreign markets by pushing up production costs. I wish Dr. Heller would translate unemployment into dollars. This would be the fair thing for him to do. He also should give proper allowance to appropriations for relief, veterans' benefits, unemployment insurance, and old age and survivors' insurance.

It is true that 1960 did not "roar like a lion." Those who had forecast the "Roaring Sixties" have thus far been disappointed. It, however, is very unfair for Dr. Heller to blame this on the Eisenhower Administration. Conditions make or "unmake" Presidents; but Presidents can do little to change the business cycle.

On the other hand, if this business readjustment should continue through 1961, and perhaps become worse, it would be very unfair for Republicans to blame it on the Kennedy Administration. Every thoughtful businessman and labor leader knows that "the trees cannot grow to the sky" and that after the abnormal prosperity years since World War 2 a readjustment is inevitable; the longer it is postponed, the worse it will be. By the way Dr. Heller, who is now 45, was only a kid in 1930—only 15 years old! Yes, and Mr. Kennedy himself was then only 13 years of age.

Among the 400 cities where the leading newspapers publish this weekly column, some are suffering from real unemployment, such as in areas hurt by the national switch from coal to oil. Yet other sections, such as the Cape Canaveral coast of Florida, are enjoying increased employment due to development of missiles. President Kennedy will make a wise effort to relieve by temporary aid any areas "submerged" as a result of natural causes. A permanent cure

Town Board Votes Salary Raises at Tuesday Meeting

NEW PALTZ — The Town Board held its re-organization meeting Jan. 3, at which time the $500 salary raise for the supervisor and town clerk were approved. Their salaries will now be $2300 a year. The justices' salaries will remain at $2000 a year for the present, although it is expected they will ask for an increase for next year.

Alfred Heiser, as chairman of the assessors, was given a $600 a year increase, bringing his salary to $1400. The other assessors still receive the $1200 salaries. The town councilmen were given a $600 a year increase.

The highway superintendent's salary was set at $5500 and the tax collectors at $1500 a year. Mrs. Bruce Conklin was reappointed Town Welfare officer on a salary of $420, and Leonard Newkirk as dog warden receives $480 yearly. Milage for town officials was also authorized.

Kenneth Hasbrouck was reappointed Town Historian with a $100 a year stipend. A salary of $550 for a confidential secretary was also confirmed. Grant Sheeley was renamed Building Inspector at a $100 monthly salary. Mrs. Theodore Lasher was renamed deputy Town Clerk without salary.

Constables salaries were increased from $125 an hour to $150 on a recommendation of the supervisor, Robert DuBois was renamed constable in charge. Other constables are Joseph Thompson, Ernest Ahlberg and William Parades.

It was reported by the architectural firm of Jones and Morrow who are in charge of the construction of the new town building, that a new fourth wall will have to be built. Original plans were to add the new building to the present firehouse, but it was found that there was no foundation under this wall as it was built on solid rock, therefore, if the new addition were to be added to the present building, blasting would have to be done and it is feared this would damage the present building. The estimated cost of a fourth wall is $3,000. The estimated figures for the new building was originally at $40,000, but has now risen to $70,000.

At a recent special meeting of the board, the heating and ventilating contracts were awarded. K & S Electric Company of Newburgh was given the contract for electricity on a low bid of $8,890.

Austin Quick of New Paltz was awarded the heating and ventilating contract on his bid of $7,411.

As there is not enough police protection in the town, the board is in the act of working out a plan to present to the village board whereby they might buy more police protection from the village, as a town may not have a police force.

A letter was read from the Association of Towns announcing the annual meeting of that organization to be held at the Statler Hotel, Buffalo, Feb. 6 to 8. All members of the town board were authorized to attend this meeting with expenses taken from the town fund.

The February meeting of the board will be held Tuesday, Feb. 14, instead of the Feb. 8 date.

Home Extension Service News

Lenore Clemshaw, assistant home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service, submits the following article:

The holidays are over and we can all relax, perhaps for a little while anyway. I hope you all had an enjoyable holiday and will have a good year. I imagine all the presents are put away and if there are children in your house all the toys have been well-played with.

The little stuffed dolls and animals that children love to cuddle and take to bed are apt to lose their Christmas newness rather quickly. But it's easy to keep them fresh and clean. Plastic covered toys may simply be wiped off with a damp cloth or be rinsed in sudsy water. Foam-rubber-stuffed toys may go through the normal washing-machine cycle and then be machine dried, or they may be hand-laundered. Cotton—batting-stuffed toys covered with terry cloth, gingham, flannel, or plush may go into the washer if they're well packed and the seams are firm. Use a "warm" setting and mild suds. When in doubt about the proper method to use or when instructions say not to immerse, make thick suds in a basin and swish the toy around in them, or rub it lightly with the soap suds, using a soft brush or sponge. Then rinse in clear water, shake well, and pat dry with a bath towel. Don't ever immerse a stuffed toy that has a mechanism.

Put Zip in Zippers

If your slip covers come back from the cleaners or laundry with slow-moving zippers, rub the zippers with soap and work them back and forth a couple of times. They will work smoothly.

The Monteuxs, Karen Ranung at Sunday Festival

A prominent husband and wife team and an excellent soprano will combine their musical talents in the Woodstock Winter Festival program Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Guild Gallery in Woodstock.

Appearing will be Claude Monteux, flutist, and his wife, Marianne Monteux, harpsichordist; and Karen Ranung, soprano. Mr. Monteux is currently the musical director of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society. He has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic and the NBC Symphony and has also recorded for all the major companies. Mrs. Monteux, a graduate of Oberlin, has appeared with her husband in many concerts designed for children.

There will be music from the Elizabethan and Renaissance periods, as well as traditional and contemporary songs. The program will feature such music as "Ewig's Quelle" by Telemann and the Sonata in G major by Haendel. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Residents Rally To Assistance of Johnson Family

A Woodstock family that had its home completely destroyed by fire on Christmas Eve is adjusting to a new life thanks to the assistance being given them by many generous and warm-hearted residents of the township.

The story started Christmas Eve when fire destroyed the home, with all its furnishings and belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson who resides in the Harold Short home near the Woodstock Estates.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were in the village shopping, while two teenage daughters were at home minding their younger brothers, aged 4 and 6. The fire was caused by the explosion of a new heating system and the flames spread so rapidly it was impossible to save anything.

Mrs. Marge Wells was first to offer assistance to the stricken family. She offered the Wells one of the apartments in her home rent free until they could get on their feet again. But the accommodations were too small, although the spirit was big. Then Miss Mary, (Mrs. Mike Mottolese) came forward and offered a suitable apartment, also rent free for two months, fully furnished and with a washer. There will be a nominal rent charge for the Johnsons thereafter, if they have not found suitable permanent quarters.

A group of women of the Shady Methodist Church spearheaded by Mrs. Bill Wells then started mobilizing assistance with heartwarming results through what is known as the Commission for Christian Social Concerns.

Items Pour In

Many hands and hearts responded to the Johnsons in their hour of need, but Mrs. Wells rates special mention for her intensive telephone campaign which resulted in collection of a large quantity of household goods, clothing, shoes, bedding and kitchen utensils.

There was a small purse collected and the Catholic Charities, through Rev. Harold Stewart, also furnished assistance. Joe Holdridge set up a collection center for items at Warren Hutt's. Paul Kysely of the Maverick Market furnished a roast beef. Others inadvertently overlooked made contributions.

Most of the campaign was conducted by telephone and the response was tremendous. Naturally there were some items that didn't fit or couldn't be used and these are being stored by Mrs. Miller's group for future emergencies.

The Johnsons were overwhelmed by the public response and found it difficult to adequately express their gratitude and appreciation.

As Mrs. Miller pointed out, it was a magnificent example of public support and indicates people will respond when asked to give assistance. It is also a comforting example to all of us, who might some day unexpectedly need help, she said.

UNNECESSARY HORN HONKING

Question: Whenever I go to my bridge club meeting my husband usually comes for me and drives me home. I am the only one in the group who lives on the other side of town and as I have no one to go home with, my husband has kindly volunteered to pick me up. We usually stop playing at a certain time. Rather than have my husband get out of the car and come to the door to fetch me, I told him to honk the horn three times when he arrives so I will know he is there and leave. I overheard one of the women criticize him for honking the horn and say that it was very bad manners. Under the circumstances, I see no objection to his honking the horn and think her criticism very unfair. I would like your opinion on this.

Answer: Your having told him to do so, excuses him from any rudeness to you personally, but honking his horn unnecessarily was nevertheless disturbing, and therefore rude, to everybody else who heard him.

Unexpected Visits

Question: We just have recently moved to a community where friends and neighbors think nothing of dropping in on us to spend an evening. I am not used to this and find it very disrupting. Since we all have telephones don't you think people should first call and ask whether it would be convenient to have them come over? I think it almost rude to drop in on people (except close family) unexpectedly. Is this an accepted custom?

Answer: I agree with you, but there are many people who like house as a guest or should he go to a hotel?

Answer: It will be entirely proper for him to stay in your house.

Entire Varsity Sees Some Action; Uhl Scores 31

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

The entire Kingston High varsity had a good workout last night at the Kate Walton Field House as the Maroon five thumped an outmanned Our Lady of Lourdes club, 78-56. The visitors played inspired basketball from start to finish but they didn't have the manpower as they dropped their eighth straight start.

Joe Uhl played three periods and notched 31 points to lead the attack. The Blonde Bomber had 10 buckets and added 11 charity tosses for his total. He was aided by Mike Ferraro (16) and Albert Brown (14). Coach John Gilligan pulled the first string at the end of the third quarter and the reserves finished.

Baskets by Brown and big John Duffner in the opening minute shot Kingston ahead, 4-0, and the locals never trailed. After Gary Henderson made a foul shot for the visitors, Uhl hit with a jumper and two fouls, and Ferraro added another free throw before Henderson's charity toss made it 9-2, with 6:15 left to play in the quarter.

After Ferraro made it 11-2 with a jump shot from near the foul line, little Pete Dallee got the first Lourdes basket with a neat hook shot. Uhl's jumper from the side, and foul shots by Dallee and Vinnie Smedes made the score 14-5. The visitors were never closer than six points the remaining portion of the tilt, though they scrapped all the way.

Henderson, Dallee, Mario Morrelli and Pete Donnelly were all in double figures for Lourdes. Dallee was a crowd pleaser with his dribbling.

CAGE NOTES—An enthusiastic crowd from the Bridge City school was at the game and they cheered every point the Lourdes players scored. . . . Kingston, which has won six games in seven starts, will host Liberty and Newburgh in DUSO engagements next week. . . . The sportsmanship of both clubs was the best this observer has seen this season. It was a well played and clean game. . . . Lourdes does not have a cheer-leading squad as yet, but the KHS cheerleaders more than made up for the lack of opposition with their usual enthusiasm.

Good Judge

LONDON — (NEA) — Lord Justice Cohen, captain of the Royal and Ancient, flew to Israel to referee the opening match on the new golf course at Caesarea.

The seaside course is the first full-length one in the country and is declared by many the best of its kind in the Middle East.

The match, arranged by Lord Rothschild, is between Sam Snead, American Ryder Cup captain, and Harry Weetman, English professional.

Being captain of the Royal and Ancient of the famed St. Andrews course in Scotland is comparable to being president of the most exclusive club in the British Empire.

Lord Cohen hopes to play a few holes himself, but his main item of luggage is a copy of the rules of golf.

Staging a fourth quarter rally, the Poughkeepsie Pioneers knocked Newburgh Free Academy from the unbeaten ranks with a 60-59 verdict last night at the NFA gym.

In another circuit engagement, Middletown rallied in the second half to trim winless Port Jervis, 73-61.

The Goldbacks of Coach Joe Gaspard had a 48-40 lead starting the last period. However, the Pioneers whittled that margin down and then pulled out the victory in the final seconds.

Ty Elting, Steve Albrecht and Jim Gordon were all in double figures for the defending champions. The losers had three performers with more than 10 points.

Middletown got some good scoring from Bill Gray. Dom Roselli and George Horne in beating Port Jervis. The Borters led 31-29, at halftime and trailed by only two points, 51-49, starting the last period.

Ted Kroll Has Tourney Lead In Los Angeles

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ted Kroll, who hasn't won a big golfing event in four years, entered round two of the Los Angeles Open today 11 strokes ahead of Arnold Palmer.

Kroll also stayed in front of everybody else, but not by much. His 5-under-par 66 left him just a stroke up on three others in this $45,000 event.

Kroll's success was less astonishing than Palmer's failure. Palmer, 31, National Open and Masters champion of 1960, took a shocking 12 strokes on his final hole late Friday. He shot four straight balls out of bounds.

The stroke and distance penalties, newly revived by the PGA, plus two to finally reach the green carpet, plus two more to get the pesky white pellet into the hole, amounted to 12.

It left Palmer with a 44-33-77. Kroll, whose last major triumph was in 1956 in the "world championship" at Chicago, and was worth $100,000, held a one stroke lead teeing off today at the Rancho Golf Club's 7,000-yard, par 36-35-71 layout.

Just behind at 67 were Bob Goalby, Bill Collins and Eric Monti. It was Monti who a year ago led for three rounds and blew up with an 80 and a tie for seventh place.

Dodgers Slate Press Conference Next Week

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers are calling a press conference next Monday afternoon, presumably to announce that Leo Durocher has signed as third base coach.

Buzzie Bavasi, vice president of the Dodgers, said that Durocher and Manager Walt Alton will be present at the conference. Alton already has given his blessing to Durocher as replacement for Coach Greg Mulleavy, who is sidelined by illness.

Nolan Is Star In 2nd Half For Sawyers

Aided by a tremendous second half surge on the part of guard John Nolan, Saugerties High players won their seventh straight game, 53-46, last night at Wappingers Falls. It was the third victory in four DCSL contests for Bud Smith's five.

Nolan was held to one basket during the first half as Wappingers defensive ace Gary Brown put the clamps on. However, after some advice from Coach Smith during the halftime intermission, Nolan tallied 18 points in the third and fourth quarters to lead his teammates to the hard earned triumph.

The Sawyers led, 18-16, at halftime, thanks to the good pointmaking by Al Hrdlicka and Billy Eckhoff. Then with Nolan going on his second half tear, the lead zoomed to 34-25 after three periods and this clinched the verdict.

Nolan finished with 20 points to show the way. Hrdlicka tallied 13 and Eckhoff had an even dozen. Brown was the best for the Fallsmen with 17 markers.

Griffith, head freshman coach and chief football recruiter in 1960, has been an assistant at Georgia since 1956. He won the job over several candidates better known, including All-America Charley Trippi, Georgia backfield assistant.

Dillman Stars As Visitors Lose 1st Game

Playing their best game of the season, the New Paltz State Teachers College five knocked Plattsburgh from the unbeaten ranks with a 49-39 triumph last night at the New Paltz High School gym. The visitors had won an earlier tilt between the schools and they came in with the second best defensive record in the small college ranks.

The Hawks led, 26-18, at halftime and they managed to maintain a slim margin the rest of the way. Rich Barnett, Artie Gibbins, Sam Mandia and Bob Martyn also shared in the triumph, the third of the season for New Paltz. Plattsburgh now has a 7-1 record.

A woman member of Charles' church said she would mortgage her own home before she could let Ezzard lose his.

Charles, now 39, said last week he was broke although he earned nearly $2 million over 20 years in boxing.

Can You Imagine a World Without People Talking?

Can you imagine a world without human language? Think of how lonely it would be if we could not talk to each other. And if there were no languages, people could not write letters either. Men would live and grow and die like vegetables.

No one knows how human language began, but it is safe to guess that the most primitive ones began with grunts and signs.

Early Indians relied a lot on these, and American Indians were using sign language and descriptive sounds for words when the first white men came to this country.

They called the white men's wagons "chick-chick shani-lea kia-kash!" because that was what it sounded like to them when the wagons rolled on grass, crossed mud, and struck a rock.

We all use some words of this sort, like "buzz," "whirr," and "pop," which sound just like the object or action they are describing.

Men probably learned to talk from such simple beginnings as these, in words that expressed the simplest and most important things like "I am hungry," "I am in pain," "Danger!" "Come quickly."

Just as small children call a dog a "bow-wow," a duck a "quack-quack," and a locomotive a "choo-choo," so early man made sounds describing or imitating something.

We may be sure that natural languages of man simply grew among the world's countless tribes, clans and nations. And this is the reason there are so many different languages in the world.

English is one of the richest and most beautiful of these languages. Next to Chinese, it is the tongue most widely used by the world's people. About 270 million people speak it.

No one is sure how many words there are in English, but it is thought there are 600,000.

Some people still get by with a hundred of the most basic words—plus a few grunts. But such persons are handicapped through life.

College students training for professions are expected to know some 60,000 words. So the boy or girl who makes it a habit to learn and use new words daily is on the right track.

We have a rich and beautiful language. Let's learn it well, and speak it proudly.

—Mabel Slack Shelton.

Fill the vase with water and put a sprig of ivy or some wild flowers in the water.

The eggshell vase is waterproof and looks gay and bright hanging from the kitchen window.

Modern Dragon

By Frances Gorman Risser
The vacuum cleaner roars along,
A dragon up-to-date,
And anything that's in his path
Meets with a dreadful fate.

He gobbles up the dust and dirt,
His snake-like tail adrag;
He noses everywhere and stuffs
His funny stomach bag.

If I were Brownie, Fay or Elf,
I'd run and hide and howl
When the big vacuum cleaner beast
Is on his daily prow!

UP GO THE BALLOONS

UP
UP

You have probably heard about letters being photographed and sent on tiny microfilm to their destination. You may think this is something new.

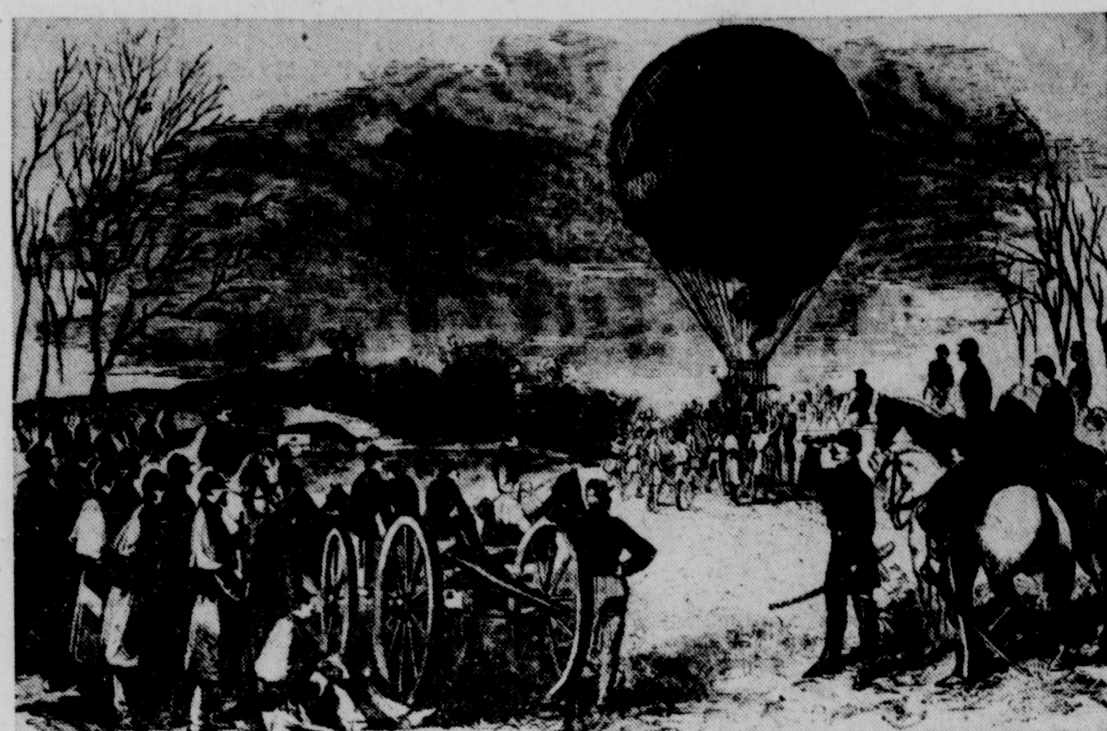

But, during the French and German War 90 years ago, the French sent microphotographs of mail out of Paris by balloon.

The city was under siege, and this was the method they thought up to communicate with those outside the city.

Just a few months ago a balloon carried a scientist almost 20 miles above the earth's surface, a record height for man. But balloons have been bearing people into the sky for almost 200 years—long before the airplane was invented.

The principle of balloon flight is really quite simple. If an object is lighter than the air whose space it occupies it will float upward into the atmosphere. The problem was not in making a balloon but finding a substance that is lighter than air.

Back in 1783, two Frenchmen, the Mongolfier (mongolf-ee-ay) brothers designed a balloon that was open on the bottom. They found that air itself, when heated, was lighter than the regular air around them. One day, with two passengers aboard, they built a fire under the balloon (being careful not to burn it). As the air inside warmed, the balloon rose wonderfully into the sky. As the air cooled, the balloon slowly settled back to earth. Man's first flight.

Balloons were used for observation during the Civil War. This drawing shows one being sent aloft by Union troops over Confederate lines near Vienna, Va.

Soon, scientists discovered that hydrogen gas is lighter than air, even when cold. This gas was used until just a few years ago to lift balloons.

The trouble with hydrogen is that it burns easily, and is dangerous. Now safe helium gas is used.

Before the French used balloons in the siege of Paris, Federal troops in the American Civil War sent up scouting balloons over enemy lines. The balloons were held from being blown away by long cables.

Soldiers in the balloons sent messages by telegraph cable back to the ground.

The 1897 balloon flight of Swedish engineer Salomon Andree is described by the Book of Popular Science as perhaps the most daring lighter-than-air flight ever attempted.

With two companions he set off in an attempt to float over the North Pole. The men were never heard from again.

Their bodies were found on an arctic island 33 years later. Their balloon had drifted back to earth and they had died of the cold.

Mother Nature's Squirters Can Pack a Big Wallop

Some of Mother Nature's children have special equipment to help them get along better in this world. Among these animals are the squirters.

The whale is the biggest squirt of all. He lives in the water like a fish but he has to breathe air.

When he goes down into the depth of the water he takes a big breath and holds it; after a while he has to come up again. He breathes out through his nose and this is only a slit located on the top of his head.

The moisture in his warm breath condenses and this makes a big squirt of spray which can be seen from quite a distance.

This is what the whalers watch for, and why they shout "Thar she blows!" The fat under the skin is called blubber and is valuable.

We must not forget our old fat friend the elephant for he is a big squirt too. His trunk makes a fine shower bath.

When he is hot and tired he fills his trunk with water and bends it up and sloshes the water all over his back and head.

The octopus, too, is known as a squirt. He swims by jet propulsion, sucking water into his gills and shooting it out through an exit, each exhaust pushing him along several feet.

He can also do some fancy squirting in technicolor from his special ink bag. This dark fluid clouds up the water all around him, and helps him escape from his enemies.

Along some rocky coasts are found marine animals that have leathery, sac-shaped bodies. They are called tunicates or "sea squirts" because they'll let loose with a jet of water if touched.

Wheels changed from

at Columbus, Ohio.

The Bucks, who wrapped up the Holiday Festival in New York's Madison Square Garden last week by beating previously undefeated St. John's and St. Bonaventure, have won nine straight this season and have a two-season streak of 14.

It should be just a warm-up for All-America Jerry Lucas & Co. against an Illinois team that has dropped six of nine games this season in the most woeful Illinois start in recent history.

Two of the other unbeaten, second-ranked Bradley, and 10th-rated Auburn, figure to stretch their streaks but DePaul, Louisville and Vanderbilt—may be in for rough evenings.

Bradley, 11-0 this season and carrying the nation's longest major winning streak at 17, is home to Missouri Valley Conference foe Tulsa. Auburn, 6-0 this season with a 15-game win streak, is home for its Southeastern Conference opener with Mississippi State.

Have Road Games

DePaul (8-0), Louisville (12-0) and Vanderbilt (9-0) all are on the road for toughies—DePaul at Dayton (7-2), Louisville at Milwaukee

St. John's, only other top ten team in action, whipped to its ninth victory in 10 games (Ohio State's rally beat the fifth-ranked Redmen 70-65 last week), 81-60 over Temple, which had won eight straight and 10 of 11 games.

Gorman, only slightly injured, was booked by police on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter. They said another occupant had put out one fire in Gorman's mattress earlier in the night. Gorman denied he had been smoking in bed.

The fire which broke out at 3 a. m. roared up through the tenement-like squalor where 135 people had been living — some for many years — in the threadbare anonymity of the poor, the pensioned, the epileptic.

Perry said that in some rooms they found several bodies where the hotel's register showed only one person staying — indicating that the elderly occupants had invited their friends from skid row in out of one of the coldest nights here in recent history. The thermometer stood at 36.

Orthodox Church Celebrates Yule Mass in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Archbishop Alexei, patriarch of all Russia, celebrated the Orthodox Church's Christmas today by officiating at midnight Mass in Moscow Cathedral in an atmosphere of mingled majesty and melancholy.

Only a few young persons attended the services. Most of the congregation was made up of older persons, mostly women. Many of them were married under the Czar more than 43 years ago before the Communist revolution struck down the wealthy church and reduced it to an almost pitiful remnant.

Other midnight Masses were celebrated in scattered city and country churches throughout the Soviet Union to mark Christmas, which under the old calendar comes 13 days after the Western world's Christmas.

Thousands walked through a fresh snowfall to crowd into Moscow Cathedral, ornate in gold and white.

Archbishop Alexei, past 80 but sturdy, stood in his golden robes and a glistening bejeweled crown, in the center of the cathedral. Around him were rows of metropolitan, bishops and priests also wearing gem-studded crowns.

Czars worshipped in this cathedral before the revolution and Archbishop Alexei has come down through the years from that early day when the church was rich, when its leaders spoke on even terms with the Czar and all Russians lived under its mantle.

But years of Communist domination has changed all that. Enamel cuns, not the old crystal or silver glasses, were used to dip holy water from fountains to pass out among worshippers. Royalty was long since gone, replaced by about 2,000 workers and peasants.

Burglary Is Probed

An undetermined amount of cash was taken from two amusement machines in Polk's drive-in on Route 28 at Stony Hollow sometime during the night, Corporal Edward Shannon, BCI, of the Kingston state police who is investigating the burglary, said entrance was gained through a lavatory window. The two machines were pried open and coins removed but attempts to break a juke box and cigarette machine failed. The break was discovered about 7 a. m. today by the proprietor, Eugene Pepper of Kingston.

City Man Jailed

A 37-year-old Kingston man was sentenced to 90 days in the Ulster County jail Friday afternoon, after being found guilty of third degree assault before City Judge Aaron E. Klein. James L. Richards of 11 Broadway, was arrested on complaint of Raymond Gerard, of 24 Chambers Street, a sailor, after a reported fight on lower Broadway. The special trial was held because Gerard was due to return soon aboard ship.

Mysterious Tribe True to Teachings Of Early Judaism

By WILTON WYNN

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) —Hidden away in the wilds of northern Ethiopia lives a mysterious tribe who call themselves the "House of Israel," but who speak no Hebrew and do not know the meaning of the word Jew.

Living in a remote and almost inaccessible mountain region north of Lake Tana, these people are known in Ethiopia as "Falashas" but often are called "Black Jews." Their scriptures are the Old Testament and their religious practices those prescribed in the Pentateuch, the first five books of the Bible.

They call themselves "Sons of Abraham" and "House of Israel" and have a priestly system similar to that of primitive Judaism. Does this mean the Falashas are a long-lost Hebrew tribe who in the dim past went into seclusion in Ethiopia?

Their Origins Unknown

If the Falashas should suddenly decide to emigrate to Israel—as have several other Middle Eastern Jewish communities—the state of Israel would have to decide officially whether they are Jews.

So far, the Falashas have shown no signs of moving to Israel. Probably the great majority of the estimated 25,000 "black Jews" are not even aware there is a state of Israel today. The Israelis have taken seven Falashas to Israel on scholarships, and one well-educated Falasha is connected with the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Like Jews everywhere, the Falashas have the Old Testament as their Bible. They observe rigidly the observances and feasts prescribed in the Pentateuch. They strictly observe Saturday as the Sabbath. The word Falasha itself is translated "emigrant" and could imply they are a community in exile.

Former Dutchess Sheriff Denies Record Burning

C. Fred Close, who retired last Saturday after 21 years service as sheriff of Dutchess County, denied Friday emphatically that official files had been burned before he left office, and said he would welcome any investigation of the condition of the office before he retired.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan, who succeeded Close in office on January 1 said on Thursday that in the first couple of days in office he had discovered hundreds upon hundreds of official files burned. He also said at least a dozen guns were missing, and he discovered a discrepancy of about $100 in one civil account.

Quinlan said he would ask Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz to make an investigation and also will inform District Attorney Raymond Baratta of his findings.

Close said that during the last three years he had destroyed a quantity of his personal files and outdated veterans files which he kept. The former sheriff said automobile accident files, dating from seven to 25 years back also were destroyed, and that duplicate copies of old medical examiners cases or those involving sudden death, where original records are still with the medical examiner, also were cleaned out.

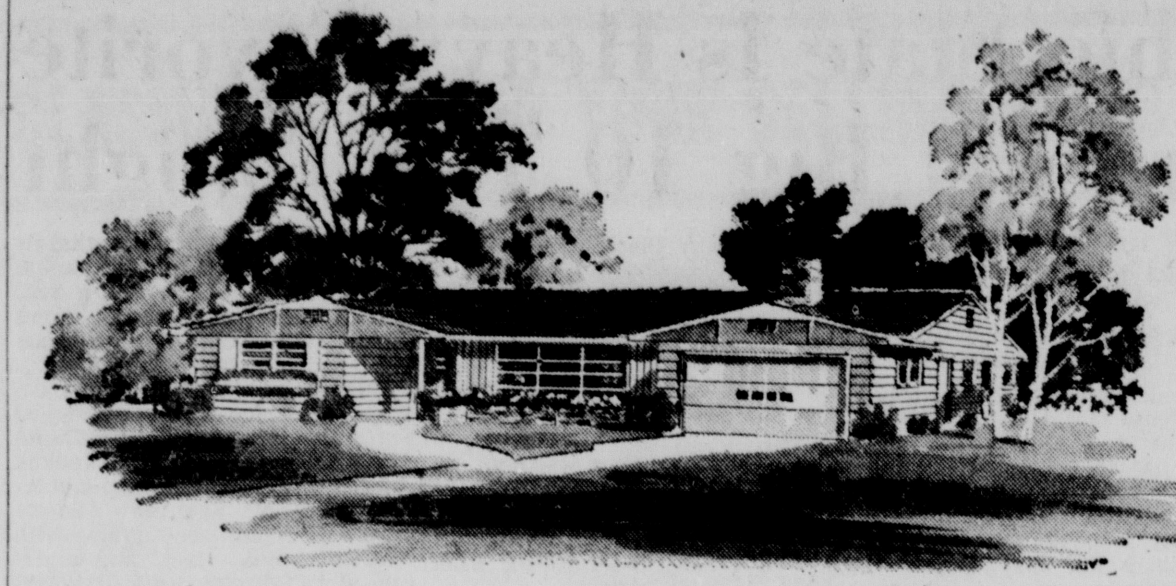

Commenting on Quinlan's report that firearms were missing the former sheriff said, "that is ridiculous, I never spent more than $500 or $600 on guns in all my 21 years as sheriff." He said he had 15 revolvers presented to him personally during his term in office and he loaned them to members of his staff, who never returned them.

Close said he was very much disturbed over the inferred suspicion that someone in the civil department of the sheriff's office was involved in a discrepancy. The former sheriff said when he left office he never even got his own personal gun back.

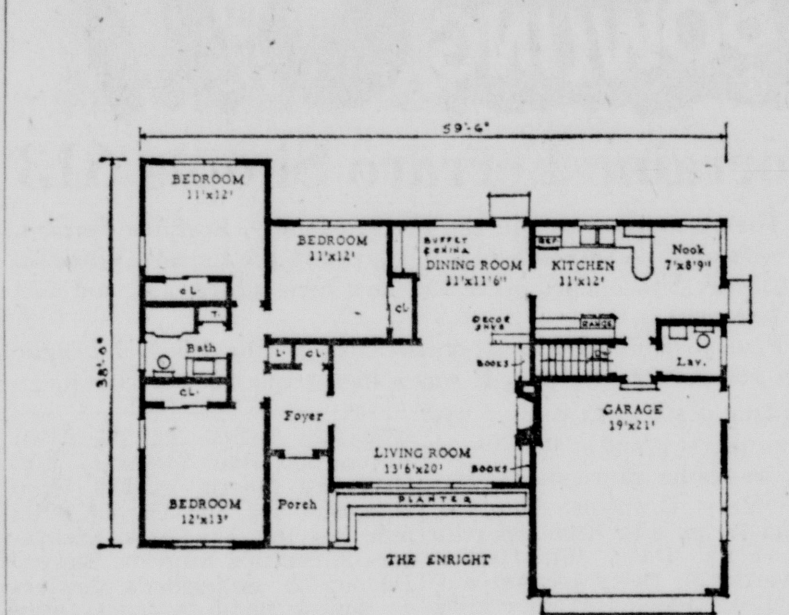

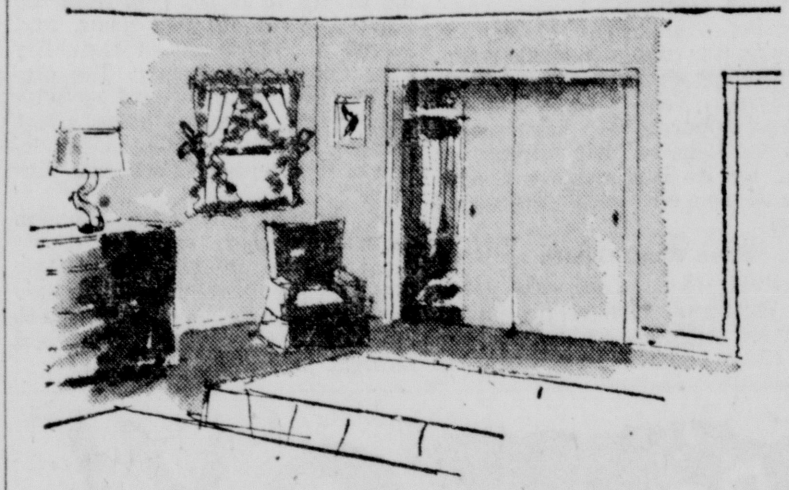

District Attorney Baratta said Friday he had not received any report from Quinlan about records or missing guns, but he expected a full report on the matter in view of the contentions as reported by Quinlan.

THE ENRIGHT Architecture Home Designs

They'll Pause to Admire Good Taste in This House

If you like a home whose styling is up-to-the-minute, and whose snug appearance will make people pause to admire your good taste, then consider the new plan by Architects Home Designs, "The Enright."

It's laden with features that enhance the value of a home and at the same time add to its livability. One such feature is an impressive entrance foyer, from which the other rooms radiate. The foyer, just inside a covered porch, serves to dissipate drafts, and besides, includes a most useful coat closet.

The expansive living room is beautifully lighted by means of an enormous window wall with canopy-type sash. In all, this is a living room to be remembered because of such luxury appointments as a fireplace with built-in bookcase-and-woodbox units on either side.

To achieve that desirable "open" feeling in the living quarters, there is no wall between living and dining rooms. Instead, the architect calls for a set of decorator shelves to suggest the separation. This retains the mood of airiness while it gives notice that each of the rooms has its own function.

The dining room itself is large, with sufficient space to accommodate guests in full comfort. Here again are luxurious additions such as the combined built-in china cabinet and buffet, which will go far to simplify the service of meals.

The design of the kitchen is such that it will save homemaking steps. It includes a separate dining nook, just the thing for informal meals and serving the children. Open planning is featured here, too.

This area also has a lavatory, the steps to the basement and the house entrance of the garage. This sensible arrangement will result in a neater home, because it is so convenient to wash up after working in the garage or downstairs.

The way is a full two-car garage which many suburban families find they really need.

The other side of "The Enright" consists of sleeping quarters—three large bedrooms—plus a full bath. The bedrooms are very nicely ventilated, and each has a modern wardrobe with space-saving sliding doors. There's a linen closet in the bedroom hall, plus a separate towel closet right in the bathroom.

To obtain plans for this contemporary ranch type home, simply send along the accompanying coupon. The blueprints are moderately priced and show every last detail necessary for construction. Your order will also bring you a list of all the building materials needed. There is no charge for these extras. Be sure to note if you want drawings with or without basement.

The living area of "The Enright" is 1,200 square feet, and there are 440 square feet in the garage and covered porch. The cubage is 28,000 cubic feet with basement. The plan without a basement comes to 23,500 cubic feet, and in this version the heater occupies the stairway space. Your blueprints will show how to build "The Enright" with wood siding, brick veneer or concrete block, all popular materials. And the plan meets requirements of both FHA and V.A. Electrical wiring, for safety against fire, follows the National Electrical Code.

Homemakers who look for new ideas for glass expense or picture windows should avoid either leaving them too bare or treating them too heavily with curtains or fabrics, it would seem.

Ethyl Alper who believes "large windows are treated less heavily and designed windows so that any degree of light could be had. And when the light was closed off the window treatments enhanced the room decor."

The arches were made of compressed wood, about one-half inch wide, covered by Mediterranean blue silk. The large windows are draped handsomely in white silk shantung, over chic window shades.

"When one uses a sheer fabric at the window, shades are important for privacy," says Mrs. Alper who used nubby white linen and cotton shades with a trim of blue picot-edge ribbon applied with a bond adhesive. The blue matches the arches and the hexagonal vinyl tiles on the floor.

Big Saver of Fuel

Double-glass windows can save as much as two tons of coal a winter for an average home, says the Small Homes Council at the University of Illinois. The comparable saving in oil is 340 gallons, in gas 15 therms. Storm sash, storm panels and sealed double or triple-glass are various types of insulating windows.
